About David Tvildiani Medical University

Founded in 1989, David Tvildiani Medical University (DTMU) is a prestigious private medical university located in Tbilisi, Georgia. The university is known for its internationally aligned MD program designed to meet USMLE standards, making it ideal for students who wish to practice medicine in the USA, UK, Europe, or India.

DTMU's branch, AIETI Medical School, is the first non-governmental medical institution in Georgia and is recognized by WHO, FAIMER, AMEE, and AMSE. Education is delivered entirely in English, and the curriculum is structured with modern, system-based learning and problem-based learning (PBL) methods. Over 200 graduates from DTMU have cleared USMLE and other global exams and are now practicing in countries like the USA, Germany, and the UK.

Why Choose David Tvildiani Medical University for MBBS?

Recognized by WHO, FAIMER, AMEE, and AMSE
